

Specifications: LabeledDouble

The LabeledDouble interface must satisfy the obvious specifications illustrated in the UML class diagram.

Note that, while the `getLabel()` method must never return `null` (i.e., every LabeledDouble object must have a non-`null`, non-empty label attribute), the `getValue()` method might return `null` (indicating that the LabeledDouble is missing).