

Requirements for academics.html

---

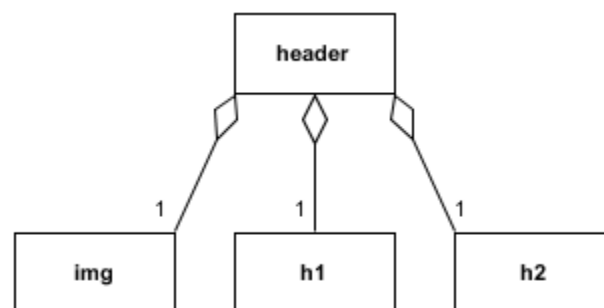

1. The `body` element
  - 1.1. Must contain one `header` element.
  - 1.2. Must contain a `section` element providing an overview of your undergraduate studies (called the overview section – see below).
  - 1.3. Must contain a `section` element for “Undergraduate Major Courses” (called a grouping section -- see below).
  - 1.4. Must contain a `section` element for “Other Undergraduate Courses” (called a grouping section).
  - 1.5. May contain a `section` element for “Graduate Courses” (called a grouping section).
  - 1.6. Must contain a `footer` element.

Figure 1 Structure of the `body` Element

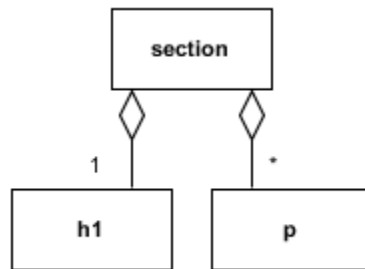

2. The `header` element in the `body` element
  - 2.1. Must contain one `img` element.
    - 2.1.1. The `src` attribute must refer to a picture of you.
  - 2.2. Must contain one `h1` element.
    - 2.2.1. The text must be your name.
  - 2.3. Must contain one `h2` element.
    - 2.3.1. The text must be the literal “Academics”.

Figure 2 Structure of the `header` Element

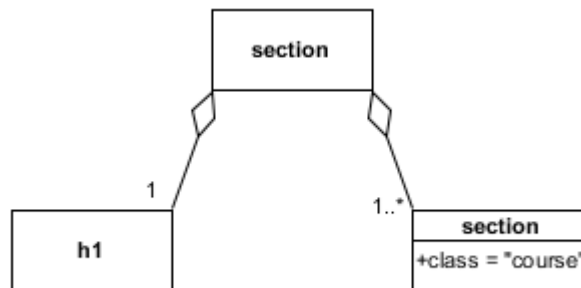

3. The overview `section` element
  - 3.1. Must contain one `h1` element.
    - 3.1.1. The text must be the literal “Overview”.
  - 3.2. Must contain one or more `p` elements.
    - 3.2.1. The text of the `p` elements must contain an overview of your undergraduate/graduate academic pursuits.

Figure 3. Structure of the `section` Element

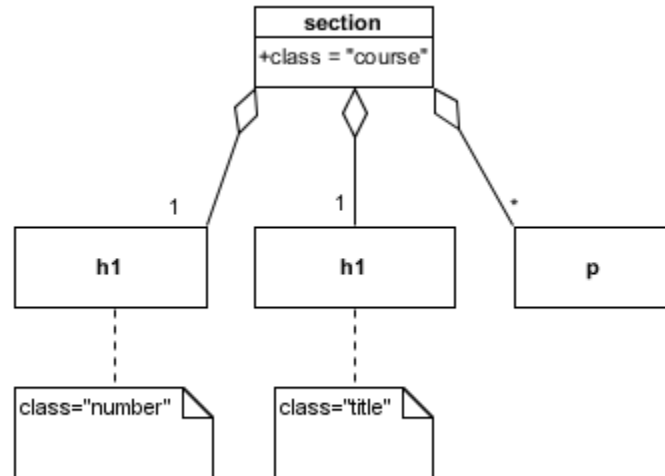

4. The grouping `section` elements
  - 4.1. Must have an `h1` element.
    - 4.1.1. The text must be “Undergraduate Major Courses”, “Other Undergraduate Courses”, “Graduate Courses”, or another appropriate descriptor.
  - 4.2. Must have one or more `section` elements of class `course` (see below).

Figure 4 Structure of “Grouping” `section` Elements

5. The `section` elements of class `course`
  - 5.1. Must have one `h1` element of class `number`.
    - 5.1.1. The text must be the course number (e.g., ECON111).
  - 5.2. Must have one `h1` element of class `title`.
    - 5.2.1. The text must be the course title (e.g., Microeconomics).
  - 5.3. Must have one or more `p` elements.
    - 5.3.1. The text must be a description of the course and what you learned from it.

Figure 5. Structure of `section` Elements of Class `course`

6. The `footer` Element

6.1. May contain an `hr` element.

6.2. Must contain a `p` element.

6.2.1. It must begin with the literal "The courses above were taken at ".

6.2.2. It must next have an `a` element for each relevant university.

6.2.3. The `a` elements must be separated by appropriate connectives (e.g., commas, the literal "and").

6.2.4. It must end with the literal ".".